Smoke-Free Public Housing: What's Your Enforcement Plan?

HUD and smoke-free housing experts recommend public housing agencies use a graduated approach to enforcing smoke-free policies, allowing residents multiple opportunities to comply before facing eviction. Check out the sample to the right.

We are working with our partners at the Public Health Law Center to create a resource on this topic and we need examples of graduated enforcement plans from public housing agencies.

Please send examples to info@smokefreepublichousingproject.org. We won't print or share any identifying information without the permission of the PHA.

Thank you for helping us help other PHAs!
